

An accomplished fingerstyle guitar virtuoso, Walker is adept at blues, ragtime and hot country picking, coaxing more out of a guitar than one can imagine. He is also a skilled singer and songwriter drawing inspiration from traditional and contemporary music and making it uniquely his own. His passion for traditional American music drove him to the Mississippi Delta, Virginia and the Carolinas where he tracked down some of the more obscure - but immensely talented - music makers of an earlier era to learn directly at the feet of Eugene Powell, James "Son" Thomas, Etta Baker, and R.L. Burnside, among others.
